Question Part

1		Source A and B believe that Cromwell rejected the position of King due to the opposition of the army. Source C
	V	and D believe other factors had an influence on Cromwell's decision to reject the role of King. Source C believes it was Cromwell's decision to reject the crown due to the consequence potential
	V	consequence that could arise by him doing it and Parliament wanting him to accept the crown but Source D suggests that Cromwell refused the crown because of what it could mean to Parliament and the army.
	F	Source A suggests that Cromwell rejected the crown because of opposition <sup>from</sup> to the army. This is EXP	because it suggests Cromwell was considering taking the title of the King when it says 'very shortly assume the title of the King.' However it does explain a factor which would prevent
		'hinder' him from doing this such as 'to a great extent alienate himself EXP	from the militia. This suggests that the effect of accepting the Humble Petition and Advice in 1657 could lead to damaging relationship between Cromwell and the army which was a underlying factor in why Cromwell did not accept the crown.

	This is because early 1657 around February to May the Cromwellians offered Cromwell the position of kingship in the Humble Petition and Advice (HPA).
KU	Cromwellians were his supporters of Cromwell and the majority were members of the army. However in June 1657 Cromwell accepted a modified version of the Humble Petition and Advice. This version removed Cromwell being king. This is because it led to divisions within the army.
	The source is a letter between the Swedish Ambassador and the leader of Sweden. We expect it to be reliable as letters are private and very therefore they are more likely to be truthful.
SC	as they do not expect others to read it. The purpose of the letter is to inform Charles II in detail about the situation in England. However through assuming Charles II is a king, it may have a bitter tone towards Cromwell as Cromwell may be seen as usurping Charles II's right. Therefore it will exaggerate how considerable Cromwell is being and how terrible the situation in England is.

Question Part

	Source A is able to tell us the Swedish views on the Humble petition and <input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Advice and acknowledges the army is a factor in the decision. It cannot tell us the Army's view.
<input type="checkbox"/> <input type="checkbox"/>	Furthermore, Source B supports the view that Cromwell did reject the crown due to opposition of the <input type="checkbox"/>	Army. This is because in Source B it says that the greatest part of the army now near you are against it.
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	This suggests that the Army raises raises member near Cromwell, the Council of Officers, were against the Humble petition and advice. This is accurate because the Council of Officers were against the Humble petition and advice as it went against the 'good old cause.' This is what the Army and Cromwell fought for during the Civil War of 1642-
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	1649, the removal of the King. Cromwell is Commander in Chief of the army and has a military background therefore this argument may be significant. The source was a persuade Cromwell not to accept the Humble Petition and Advice. It is likely to EXP	Exaggerate the harmful effects it could have on relationship between Cromwell and the Army, and mention all the negative. It will leave out the positive of the position. Source A <sup>B</sup> is a letter and therefore we would expect SC	it to be reliable. It is likely to tell us the view of the army on the Humble Petition and Advice and why they are against it.

	F	However Source C suggest that it was not the opposition of the army that made Cromwell not accept the Humble Petition and Advice but it was done to Cromwell's own motives and decisions. This is because it says EXP	he seemed reluctant to do this since he wields more authority in his present position than he would as King. This suggest that Cromwell's pursuit for power was the reason he rejected the position of kingship. The source is accurate in the fact that taking the position of King would have reduced Cromwell's power. This is because the aim of the Humble Petition and Advice involved others terms which would limit SC	Cromwell power such as bills, acts and any form of legislation has to be presented to the Protectorate Parliament.

		As well as this the Venetian ambassador once made a comment KU	saying that 'Cromwell was all but king except in name.' This suggests that the 'Humble' petition and advice could be seen as the legitimate way of making Cromwell king as he already possessed the power of a king and more. Source C is likely to be reliable as it is a P	letter. This means it will be credible as it is less likely to SE	be deceiving as it is less likely to lie. Venice is a republic. They do not have a monarch. The source may exaggerate how terrible this decision is and try to undermine Cromwell so that the Cromwellians retract the offer of kingship. If source C is

	F	Source D also suggests that it was

Question Part

		Prevented Cromwell accepting the title of Kingship. It suggests that Cromwell wanted EXP	to maintain his relationship with Parliament because it says that Cromwell 'value the authority of Parliament'.
		This is It also refers to 'Providence having with the old family eradicate the old title.' Providenceism was the EXP	concept that Cromwell believed in. It suggests that God was on his side and God wanted to get rid of a monarchy for a reason so he should not bring it back. It reiterates the idea of the good old cause and implies if Cromwell accept the humble
	EXP	person and source, then he is a traitor to the good old cause. The source is written by an Irish MP. He was
	P	a member of the Protectorate Parliament. Therefore he may exaggerate the importance of Parliament. This is because it is the first parliament with representation of England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland. Source D is therefore able to tell us Parliament's view on why they believed Cromwell did not accept Kingship in 1657.
		Source B: Providence is more central

		TO conclude source B is more convincing in explaining why the army opposed Cromwell in not accepting kingship due to its Providence. F Source A suggest the effect the acceptance on kingship could have on King and army and why it should not happen. Source C suggest Cromwell's motive in not accepting kingship and source D explains what Parliament believed as the reason Cromwell did not accept the crown. Source B is the most convincing is suggesting why the army opposed Cromwell.
2		Main reason suggest that it was the only significant cause of James's financial problem. This suggest that James's extravagance was the most important cause however it could be down to Parliament or inherited problems.
		F James extravagance could be seen as the main problem. This is because then within 3 years of coming into power James was in a debt of £500,000.

Question Part

		He gave away money freely such as to Robert Carr. One of his favours) he gave him £200,000. He EXP	also held a banquet for the French ambassador where he spent £2200 on food only.
		Any attempt to solve his extravagant were insignificant as James's spending became more extreme.
		This implies that James's extravagant spending was the root cause of financial problems for James. This is because he was unable to control his spending.
		Another cause for his spending F	was that he inherited financial problems from his predecessor Elizabeth.
		This suggests that inherited problems EXPL	were the cause of his financial problems. This is because Elizabeth sold £600,000 worth of crown lands. This is a bad thing as James could have EXP	used his land to generate revenue. However this may not have had an impact because the money which he generated and had been spent on his extravagant

Question Part

	Spending. As well as his Elizabeth left James a debt of £ <sup>200</sup> 1000 showing that he was put in a bad situation. However left he heavily in a surplus of £90,000 because of loans that she was owed by the Dutch which needed to be collected.
	This suggests that although inherent problems could be covered a problem it may not have AN	had an impact because James was not put in a financial disbalance but the opposite and that no matter what revenue he had he still spent in on extraneous spendy.
F	Parliament could be seen as a factor to the crown's problems. This is due to the lack of subsidy EXP	and gave of the great council.
	In 1614 it added Parliament no subsidies were granted. As well as his an annual grant of £100,000 in 1610 due to the great contract was removed due Parliament and the King due to the

Question Part

Kings extravagant spending. This suggests AN that James extravagant spending reputation meant people were unwilling to help James.

To conclude James's extravagant was the main reason James was unable to solve his financial problem. This is because it led to others problems such as lack of trust from Parliament and was the root cause of his problems. Any surplus money made or attempt to solve it was insignificant as it was spent on his extravagant, therefore it was the main problem was James's extravagant.
