

Support highlights

We've collated links to some of our core resources into this one-stop guide. These highlighted resources will enable you to get up to speed quickly in the classroom and support your students in preparing for assessment. They include materials that will focus your teaching on individual abilities of students, help determine their capabilities and above all save you time. Many more resources are available from the OCR website.

Schemes of Work

Link to schemes of work

Our schemes of work provide you with suggested content that could be delivered with the specification. They also provide a suggested hours of teaching time to help you plan your approach to delivery. Students might wish to use these as checklists to support their overall understanding of a given topic. Each scheme of work also includes suggested reading lists where further in-depth information could be found on any given aspect of the course.

Guide to Assessment

Our guide to assessment provides you and your students with all the information you need to access the exam questions. Each question type is fully analysed, and examples of good practice are given. They also contain student style answers to help exemplify the strengths and weaknesses of different responses. This guide was written with students in mind, so we would certainly encourage its use by them to support their own understanding of the exams.

Guide to Y100

The guide to coursework is an essential resource to provide further in-depth knowledge on the approaches taken to the Y100 coursework unit. This guide explains the formal requirements and considers how to prepare learners and mark NEA (coursework). Check out the supporting documents that go with it – including the guide to marking video, the student guide (written by a university professor) and the guide to AO2.
